Introduction

At Allanson Street Primary School, we understand that developing good behaviour and a positive attitude are essential in order for learning to take place. Even more importantly, we realise that often it is a person's behaviour and attitude that can dictate their life chances every bit as much as their academic prowess. With this in mind, we place a huge amount of importance on teaching children how to self-regulate, develop in them a strong set of values and teach them to take a restorative approach to resolving conflict in order to give them the best possible chance of becoming happy, confident, productive citizens.

At Allanson Street Primary School, we believe that the most powerful tool in managing behaviour is to create an environment where the children feel valued, happy, safe and secure. We aim to do this by promoting positive relationships and a strong sense of connection between all stakeholders. Meaningful relationships between children and staff are particularly vital and as such, we ensure that all staff take an empathetic view of behaviour. Thinking of a child as behaving badly disposes us to think of consequences. Thinking of a child as struggling to handle something difficult encourages us to think of this behaviour as a form of communication and drives in us a desire to help them through their distress.

We treat all children fairly and apply this behaviour policy in a consistent way. However, we recognise that our children have not all had the same start in life and as such may need differing levels of support and intervention in order for them to achieve the expected standard of behaviour. Children will have different needs, causes for their behaviour and motivations for their choices. Good behaviour is not automatically learned but needs to be taught and supported by parents. Therefore, whilst we treat all children fairly, treating fairly doesn't always mean treating everyone the same.

The effective, consistent implementation of this policy will enable every child to reach their potential both academically and in becoming a positive, responsible and increasingly independent member of the school and local community.

Our behaviour policy has been written taking into account the 6 recommendations from the EEF Improving Behaviour in Schools Report (See Appendix A: EEF Report), the key ideas from 'When the adult changes, everything changes' by Paul Dix and reflects our work on Trauma Informed Approaches and Restorative Practice.

Aims

- To provide a safe, nurturing and caring environment where children are able to achieve their full potential.
- To ensure that the development and maintenance of effective relationships between all stakeholders are prioritised.
- To provide clear guidance for children, staff and parents of expected levels of behaviour.
- To ensure that all staff take a consistent, trauma informed approach to dealing with behaviour.
- To ensure that all adults take responsibility for behaviour throughout school – children's choices are never ignored.
- To develop a consistent language to promote expected behaviour.
- To promote restorative approaches to help children learn from their mistakes.

‘This is how we do it here’

At Allanson Street, our expectations are clear and consistent throughout school. From their very first day, all staff, parents and children are taught ‘how we do it here’.

Our motto is, ‘We are the best that we can be’ and we ensure this by having 3 key expectations of every member of our school family. We expect every child and adult to be Ready, Respectful and Safe.

Being Ready, Respectful and Safe means that our children are able to learn and grow both academically and emotionally. From here, we can ensure that our children are able to discover and retain new knowledge and skills but also develop as well-rounded, aspirational citizens with a strong set of values.

Our school values are Kindness, Courage, Integrity, Respect, Resilience, Independence, Pride and Aspiration. We teach these through weekly assemblies, through our Growth Curriculum and by weaving them throughout our curriculum and through our daily interactions with the children. Each month, we shine the spotlight on one of our values so that children understand that the development of their values and their application of them are as important as their academic ability. Each month we focus on, and celebrate, a different value. These are as follows:

Month	Focus Value
September	Aspiration
October	Respect
November	Pride
December	Courage
January	Integrity
February	Kindness
March	Independence
April	Resilience
June	Respect
July	Courage

As a school, we use Class Dojo as a way of monitoring and celebrating ‘Above and Beyond’ behaviours. We also use this platform as a means of engaging parents as partners in their child’s education and maintaining good communication regarding their child’s achievements and behaviour. (For more information about our Class Dojo system, see Appendix B: Class Dojo Guidance)

Trauma-Informed Practice

At Allanson Street Primary School, we recognise that adverse childhood experiences can significantly impact a child's ability to regulate emotions and engage in learning. Our trauma-informed approach ensures that staff understand the effects of trauma and respond with sensitivity and support. We prioritise creating predictable routines, safe spaces, and strong, trusting relationships. Staff are trained to interpret behaviour as communication and to avoid punitive responses that may re-trigger trauma. While sanctions are sometimes necessary, they are applied only after restorative conversations, with relationships remaining secure, and with the child understanding the purpose of the sanction. This approach helps children feel safe and supported while learning accountability.

Restorative Justice

Restorative justice underpins our behaviour management philosophy. When harm occurs, we seek to repair relationships rather than simply impose sanctions. Restorative conversations allow children to reflect on their actions, understand the impact on others, and take responsibility for making amends. Where sanctions are required, they follow these conversations and are framed as a natural consequence, not a punishment, ensuring that relationships remain strong and the child understands the rationale. This approach fosters empathy, accountability, and community cohesion, helping children prepare for the expectations they will face in the wider world.

OPAL \(Outdoor Play and Learning\)

We believe that high-quality play is essential for children's social, emotional, and physical development. Through the OPAL programme, we have transformed our outdoor spaces to provide rich, varied, and inclusive play opportunities. Playtimes are structured to encourage creativity, cooperation, and risk-taking in a safe environment. Staff actively support positive play behaviours and use play as a context for teaching problem-solving and resilience. Where inappropriate behaviour occurs during play, restorative conversations and, if necessary, proportionate sanctions are used to maintain safety and fairness, always ensuring that relationships remain secure and the child understands the purpose of the consequence.

Escalated Behaviours

Some children exhibit particular behaviours based on early childhood experiences and family circumstances. As a school we recognise that their behaviour is their way of communicating their emotions. We also understand that, for many children, they need to feel a level of safety before they exhibit escalated behaviours. Staff working with the children will undertake pastoral support sessions and where appropriate, our Pastoral Team will undertake further individual and group sessions for our most vulnerable children. If required, children will have bespoke 'Positive Handling Plans' written which highlight their needs and triggers as well as outlining the best way to support them. The PHP sits alongside behaviour targets in the child's Support Plan.

When dealing with an episode of escalated behaviour, we will always try to de-escalate the situation as per the child's positive handling plan. If this isn't working, and we feel the child or other children/ staff are in danger, then as a last resort we will use SAFE teach strategies to guide a child to safety or restrain. Incidents such as these will be recorded in school and shared with parents. Guides and restraint will only be used as a last resort.

The school will record all significant behaviour incidents on CPOMS and any restraints using a Serious Incident Report which are kept in a numbered and bound book. The incidents will always be shared with parents.

Suspension or exclusions will occur following extreme incidents at the discretion of the Head Teacher in line with our Suspension and Permanent Exclusion Policy.

If a child continues to exhibit escalated behaviours, then a discussion will take place with parents and the child's case will be shared through the TESSA model to gain advice and, where appropriate, the involvement of external services such as the Behaviour Improvement Team, Educational psychologist and The Schools Inclusion Officer. Working alongside these professionals, a decision will take place with regards to next steps and whether a PSP (Pastoral Support Plan) is needed.

Behaviour expectations and pupils with Special Educational Needs and/or Disability \(SEND\)

Schools with good behaviour cultures create calm environments which will benefit pupils with SEND, enabling them to learn.

We understand that some behaviours are more likely to be associated with particular types of SEND, such as children with speech, language and communication needs who may not understand a verbal instruction. Behaviour will be considered in relation to a child's SEND, although it does not follow that every incident of misbehaviour will be connected to their SEND.

It is essential that we manage children's behaviour effectively, whether or not a child has underlying needs. When a child is identified as having SEND, the graduated approach will be used to assess, plan, deliver and then review the impact of the support being provided on the child's behaviour.

Child-on child sexual violence and sexual harassment

Responding assertively to sexually inappropriate behaviour is an important intervention that helps prevent challenging, abusive and/or violent behaviour in the future. School will use Part 5 of KCSIE guidance and links to external support for schools to access appropriate support for children exhibiting sexually inappropriate and/or harmful sexual behaviour.

School will never normalise sexually abusive language or behaviour by treating it as 'banter', an inevitable fact of life or an expected part of growing up. We advocate strenuously for high standards of conduct between children and staff; demonstrating and modelling manners, courtesy and dignified/respectful relationships that are also a key component of our planned PSHE curriculum.

We are clear that sexual violence and sexual harassment are never acceptable, will not be tolerated and that children whose behaviour falls below expectations will be sanctioned. All staff are made aware of the importance of challenging all inappropriate language and behaviour between children. School will refer to the Respectful School Communities toolkit for advice on creating a culture in which sexual harassment of all kinds is treated as unacceptable.

Following any report of child-on-child sexual violence or sexual harassment offline or online, school will follow the general safeguarding principles set out in Keeping children safe in education (KCSIE) - especially Part 5. The Designated Safeguarding Lead (or deputy) is the most appropriate person to advise on the school's initial response. Each incident will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

All victims will be reassured they will be supported, kept safe, and are being taken seriously, regardless of how long it has taken them to come forward. Abuse that occurs online or outside of the school will not be downplayed and will be treated equally seriously. A victim will never be given the impression that they are creating a problem by reporting sexual violence or sexual harassment and will never be made to feel ashamed for making a report or their experience minimised.

In instances where reports of sexual abuse or harassment are proven to be deliberately invented or malicious, the school will consider whether any disciplinary action is appropriate for the individual who made it. As with all safeguarding matters, it will be important that the Designated Safeguarding Lead is engaged and makes referrals into support services as appropriate.

Behaviour Incidents Online

The way in which children relate to one another online can have a significant impact on the culture within school. Negative interactions online can damage this culture and can lead to school feeling like an unsafe place. Behaviour issues online can be very difficult to manage given issues of anonymity, and the fact that the vast majority of online incidents will occur off the school premises. School is clear that even though the online space differs in many ways, the same standards of behaviour are expected online as apply offline, and that everyone should be treated with kindness, respect and dignity.

Inappropriate online behaviour including bullying, the use of inappropriate language, the soliciting and sharing of nude or semi-nude images and videos and sexual harassment will be addressed in accordance with the same principles as offline behaviour, including following the child protection policy and speaking to the Designated Safeguarding Lead (or deputy) when an incident raises a safeguarding concern.

Many online behaviour incidents amongst children occur outside the school day and off the school premises. Parents are responsible for this behaviour. However, as these incidents can negatively affect our school culture, when behaviour online poses a threat or causes harm to another child, and/or could have repercussions for the orderly running of the school then school will consider and apply the appropriate sanction.

Permanent Exclusion / Managed Move

Permanent Exclusion or a Managed Move is an extreme step and will only be taken in cases where:

- Long term misbehaviour is not responding to the strategies and the safety and learning of others is being seriously hindered. (This child may be considered to have Special Educational Needs and the procedures for meeting those needs are set out in our SEND policy).
- The risk to staff and other children is too high

Permanent exclusion will be a last resort and the school will endeavour to work with the family to complete a managed transfer to a more suitable setting. In all instances, what is best for the child will be at the heart of all our decisions.

For further information see Suspension and Permanent Exclusion Policy

The Role of Stakeholders

In order to maintain outstanding behaviour across school we have the highest expectations of all stakeholders.

All Adults are expected to:

- Employ the five pillars of pivotal practice.
- Demonstrate unconditional care and compassion.
- Prioritise the development of positive relationships with, and between, children.
- PRAISE IN PUBLIC – Deliberately and persistently catch children doing the right thing and praise them in front of others.
- REPRIMAND IN PRIVATE – Deal with unwanted behaviour quietly and / or away from other children (See Appendix C: Scripting Expected Behaviour)
- Never walk past or ignore children who are failing to meet expectations.
- Always redirect children by referring to 'ready, respectful and safe'.
- Be a good role model.

- Follow guidance for use of Class Dojo to ensure a consistent approach for all children throughout the school (see Appendix B: Class Dojo Guidance)
- Follow our playground protocols when on playground duty (see Appendix F : Additional Guidance for Staff)
- Record more serious behaviour incidences on CPOMS ensuring that class teachers and departmental leaders are 'tagged' in.
- Be aware of what constitutes a 'banned item' and follow procedures if it is believed that any of these items have been brought into school (see Appendix K: Banned Items and Procedures).

In addition to the expectations of all adults, Learning Support Staff must also:

- Stand in the corridors / at playground doors during transition times to ensure that children are continuing to be ready, respectful and safe.
- Keep class teachers well informed of children's behaviour choices.
- Use behaviour scripts consistently when dealing with escalated behaviours (see Appendix D: Stepped Approach to dealing with Escalated Behaviour)
- Seek advice when a child's behaviour becomes a concern.
- Seek support when a child exhibits escalated behaviour (see Appendix E: Escalated behaviour support)

In addition to the expectations of all adults, teachers must also:

- Regularly communicate with parents sharing news of both 'above and beyond' behaviour as well as news of unwanted behaviour.
- Be at the door of their classrooms at the start and end of each session to welcome the children.
- Seek advice when a child's behaviour becomes a concern.
- Seek support when needed (see Appendix D: Escalated behaviour support)

In addition to the expectations of all adults, the Headteacher and members of the Senior Leadership Team must also:

- Be a visible presence around school.
- Regularly celebrate students whose efforts go above and beyond expectations.
- Encourage use of praise, phone calls, postcards, certificates and stickers to reward above and beyond behaviour.
- Ensure staff training needs are identified and met.
- Use behaviour data to target and assess interventions.
- Support staff in managing students with more complex or challenging behaviours.
- Support staff in meeting with parents when needed.

- Seek support when needed (see Appendix D: Escalated behaviour support)

Children will try their best to:

- Be ready, respectful and safe.
- Be the best they can be.
- Contribute to lessons and listen when being spoken to.
- Demonstrate our school values of kindness, respect, integrity, independence, resilience, pride, courage and aspiration.
- Follow instructions given by adults in school.
- Let an adult know if there is a problem.

Parents / Carers must:

- Take all steps possible to ensure that children have had a good night's sleep and have eaten breakfast.
- Inform school of any changes in circumstances which may influence a child's learning or behaviour.
- Promote the importance of education and good behaviour choices to children.
- Have high aspirations for their children.
- Stay connected to Dojo and discuss dojo points (gains and losses) with their children
- Be supportive of the school values and promote them at home.
- Support the school's Relationship and Behaviour Policy and co-operate fully with any behaviour procedures should they become necessary.
- Encourage children to respect staff, children and school property.
- Engage positively and respectfully with school staff.
- Act as a good role model for our children whilst on the school site.
- Relay any concerns directly to school.

Governors must:

Carry out their legal responsibilities to the school and ensure that:

- The school strives to give the best education for every pupil
- Ensure staff are both supported and challenged to ensure the school meets the needs of all its pupils.
- Ensure school policies outline the best possible education and care.
- Ensure funding received by the school is used efficiently to support learning

- Governors visit the school regularly (when risk assessments allow) and make it a priority to raise academic standards in the school

This policy should be read alongside the following policies and guidance:

Six Key Recommendations

Know and understand your pupils and their influences

- Pupil behaviour has multiple influences, some of which teachers can manage directly
- Understanding a pupil's context will inform effective responses to misbehaviour
- Every pupil should have a supportive relationship with a member of school staff

2

Teach learning behaviours alongside managing misbehaviour

- Teaching learning behaviours will reduce the need to manage misbehaviour
- Teachers can provide the conditions for learning behaviours to develop by ensuring pupils can access the curriculum, engage with lesson content and participate in their learning
- Teachers should encourage pupils to be self-reflective of their own behaviours

3

Use classroom management strategies to support good classroom behaviour

- Effective classroom management can reduce challenging behaviour, pupil disengagement, bullying and aggression
- Improving classroom management usually involves intensive training with teachers reflecting on their classroom management, trying a new approach and reviewing their progress over time
- Reward systems based on pupils gaining rewards can be effective when part of a broader classroom management strategy

4

Use simple approaches as part of your regular routine

- Some strategies that don't require complex pedagogical changes have been shown to be promising
- Breakfast clubs, use of specific behaviour-related praise and working with parents can all support good behaviour
- School leaders should ensure the school behaviour policy is clear and consistently applied

5

Use targeted approaches to meet the needs of individuals in your school

- Universal behaviour systems are unlikely to meet the needs of all your students
- For pupils with more challenging behaviour, the approach should be adapted to individual needs
- Teachers should be trained in specific strategies if supporting pupils with high behaviour needs

6

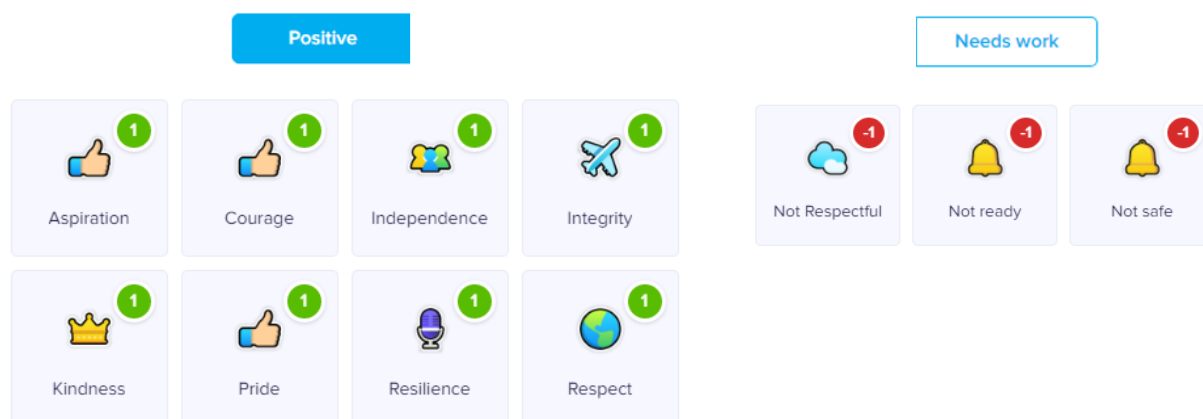

Consistency is key

- Consistency and coherence at a whole-school level are paramount
- Whole-school changes usually take longer to embed than individually tailored or single-classroom approaches
- However, behaviour programmes are more likely to have an impact on attainment outcomes if implemented at a whole-school level

Appendix B: Class Dojo Guidance

Class Dojo is a school communication platform which is intended to help make connections between children, staff and parents. Part of its function is as an effective behaviour tracker. All children are enrolled on Class Dojo before they join us in EYFS or on their first day if coming to us as part of an in-year transfer. Parents are sent an invite to join their child's account so that they can keep up to date with their child's achievements and maintain easy communication with their child's class teacher.

In order to be consistent, all staff adhere to the following guidelines:

- Keep to a maximum of 5 Dojos when giving positive Dojos.
- Award 20 minutes Golden Time to any child who earns 20+ Dojos in a week unless a serious incident has occurred which has resulted in a Negative Dojo being given. The amount of Golden Time a child is then awarded is at the discretion of the class teacher.
- A Negative Dojo can be given to children following a serious incident or after 3 warnings regarding low-level negative behaviour. If a child receives 5 or more Negative Dojos in a half term, they will not receive an invite to the end of half term behaviour reward.
- All members of staff can reward children with Dojos but Negative Dojos must only be given by class teachers. If any other member of staff has dealt with an issue, this must be passed on to the class teacher for them to decide the appropriate action.
- Children can be asked to add Dojos following the direction of the teacher but they must not be asked to give Negative Dojos.
- Negative Dojos given as a result of a serious incident (these include, but are not limited to, acts of aggression, serious levels of defiance and the use of racist / homophobic language) must be recorded on CPOMs and details given directly to parents / carers. Parents / carers will be alerted to Negative Dojos given following 3 warnings via their Class Dojo app.
- Parents / carers will be invited into school to meet with the Headteacher once their child has received their third negative dojo.

Appendix C: Scripting Expected Behaviour

Maintain a calm, consistent approach. Use the child's name. Get down to the child's level. Make eye contact. Deliver your message (see below).

In between the following steps, 'drive bys' are used to ensure the children know that you are following up on your conversations.

WELLBEING CHECK IN / REMINDER

I noticed that you chose...(noticed behaviour)

Are you okay? Is there anything that I can help you with?

If the child indicates that they have a problem (verbally or otherwise) staff will need to act to offer appropriate support.

If the child seems to be happy and well, move to:

A reminder to be (ready, respectful, safe).

Outline the better choice

Thank you for listening.

EXAMPLE: I noticed that you were talking when I was speaking to the class. Are you okay? Is there anything that I can help you with?

I'm reminding you that we need to be respectful. Please make sure you listen carefully when I'm next speaking to the class. Thank you for listening.

WARNING

I noticed you chose to...(noticed behaviour)

This is the second time I have spoken to you which means that I'm now taking a Dojo away.

You need to speak to me for 2 minutes after the lesson.

If you continue to make the wrong choice, you will receive a consequence which will be _____. Outline the better choice.

Thank you for listening.

Example: I noticed that you chose to continue to talk when I was speaking to the class. That was disrespectful. This is the second time I have spoken to you which means that I'm now taking a Dojo away and you need to speak to me for 2 minutes after the lesson. If you continue to speak when I'm speaking to the class, you will need to spend some of your play time indoors. Make sure you show respect by listening when I am speaking to the class. Thank you for listening.

CALMING TIME

I noticed you chose to...(noticed behaviour)

This is the third time I have spoken to you which means that you now need to spend some of your play time indoors and I need to speak to your parents / carer.

You need to take some time to get back on track. Take 2 minutes to get a drink / sit in the book area.

If you continue to make the wrong choice, I will have to involve another adult. Outline the better choice.

Thank you for listening.

Example: I noticed that you chose to continue to talk when I was speaking to the class. That was disrespectful. This is the third time I have spoken to you which means that not only do you need to spend some of your play time indoors, I now also need to speak to your parent / carer. You need to take some time to get back on track. Take 2 minutes to get a drink. If you continue to make the wrong choice, I will have to involve another adult. Make sure you show respect by listening when I am speaking to the class. Thank you for listening.

SEEK SUPPORT

If the child persists in the same behaviour despite being spoken to 3 times, follow our behaviour support ladder (See Appendix E: Escalated behaviour support)

FOLLOW UP, REPAIR AND RESTORE

- What happened? (Neutral, dispassionate language)
- What were you feeling at the time?
- What have you felt since?
- Who has been affected? How did this make people feel? (Ensure child sees that the impact of the behaviour was far reaching).
- What should we do to put things right?
- How can we do things differently in the future?

In order to maintain a good relationship with children, do not speak about a child's behaviour to another adult in front of the child unless this is done with the child as an active participant with the aim of repairing and restoring. If a child is to spend time with another adult over play time / lunch time due to a behaviour incident, a restorative conversation must take place with the original adult first.

Appendix D: Stepped Approach to Dealing with Escalated Behaviour

7 assertive sentence stems to get us off on the right foot.

- You need to...(stand up and come outside for a chat)
- I need to see you... (doing as I asked)
- I expect ... (to see you lined up with the rest of the class in the next 30 seconds)
- I know that you will...(help Mrs X to pick up those coloured pencils)
- Thank you for... (leaving the classroom, let's walk and talk)
- I have heard what you said, but now you must...(pick up your things calmly and move to the next table)
- We will...(have a better day tomorrow)

Dealing with escalated behaviour.

Effective Script

Help the child to maintain a feeling of control / choice for as long as possible.

You need to understand that every choice has a consequence. If you choose to do your work, that would be amazing and _____ will happen....but if you choose not to do the work, then _____ will happen...It's completely your choice, I'll give you some time to make your decision.

Remind the child that they are capable of great things.

Do you remember yesterday when you helped me to tidy up? That is the Stephen I need to see today, that is the Stephen that you can be all the time.

Maintain your relationship

I am not leaving. I care about you. I care about what happens. You are going to be brilliant.

I really like you but I don't like this behaviour. This behaviour is disruptive, damaging and dangerous. I really like you but I don't like this behaviour right now. You can be a success if you choose to be.

Things to remember

Silence is golden

Give your message, (leave time and silence) for the child to process, calm down, speak and make the right choice.

Keep yourself safe

If a child is at crisis point and is lashing out – keep your distance.

Keep others safe

If a child is endangering themselves or others, say:
Stephen, you are putting yourself / other children in danger. If you (get down from the fence / stop throwing things) then I can give you some space and time to calm down. If you continue to (climb / throw things) then I will have to lift you down / walk with you to a reflection room.

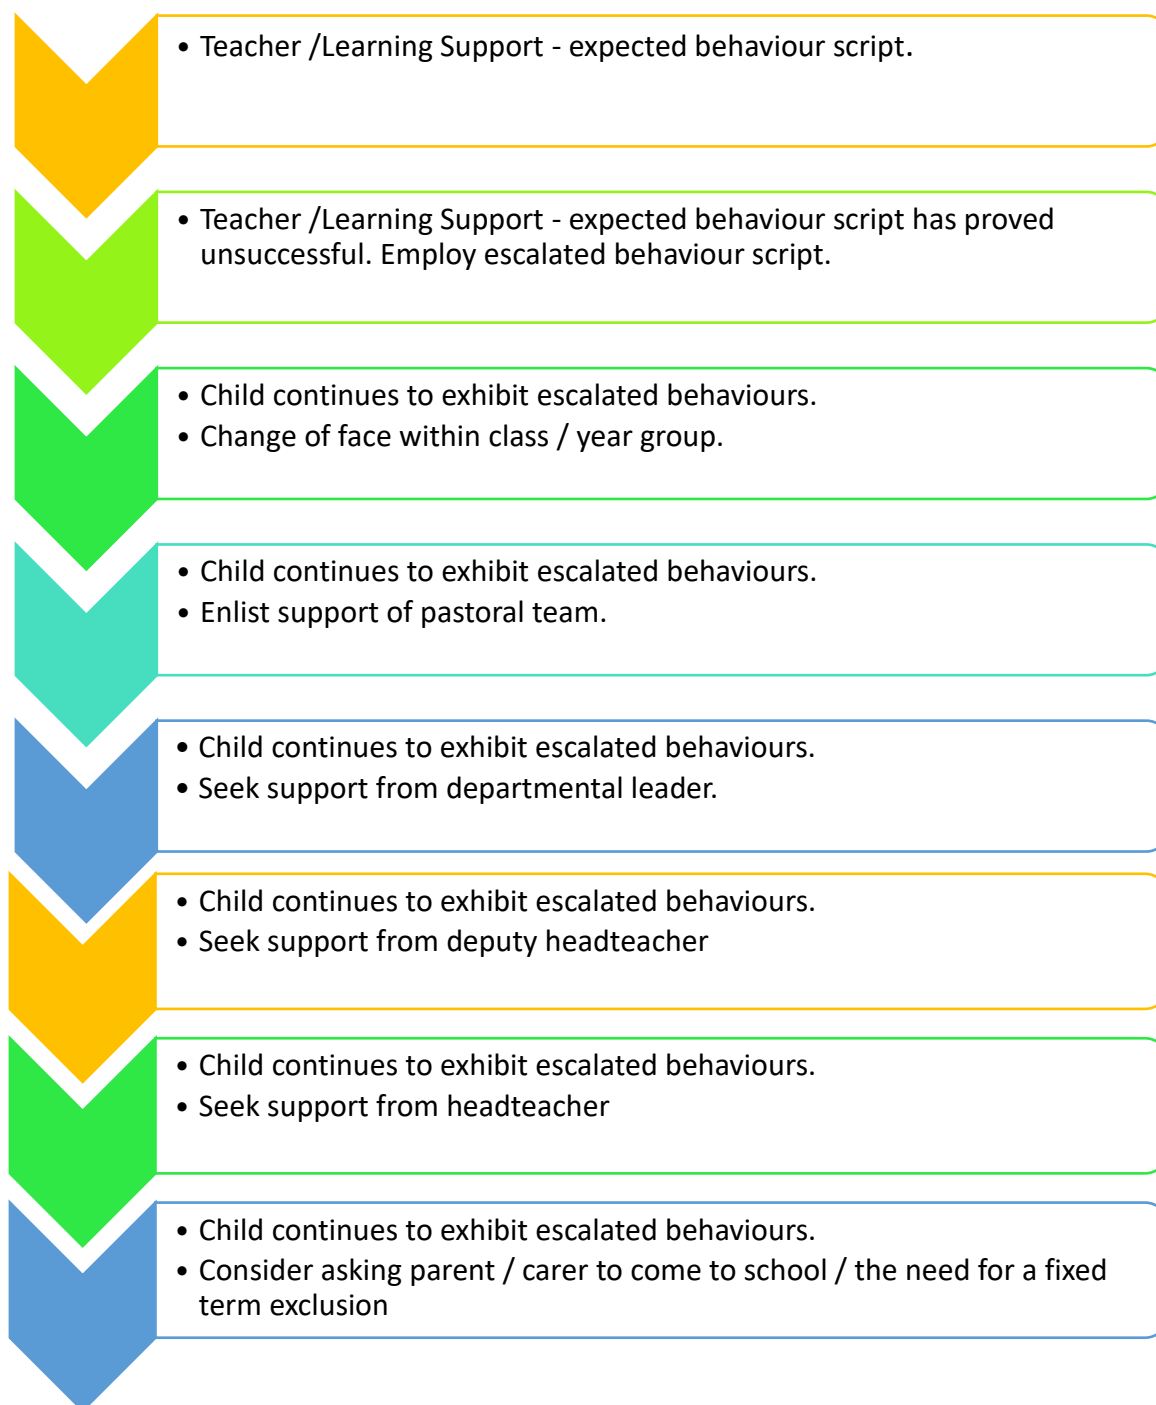

If children turn away from you / mimic you / say it with you / deliberately refuse to listen, continue to deliver the script

If children cry when you begin delivering the script, say, 'I will come back when you have stopped crying'. Then find the moment to return.

Scripts should not be a secret. If other children happen to hear you using a script it shows them that you are consistent and fair – it also demonstrates what they might expect if their behaviour is not at the expected standard.

Appendix E: Escalated Behaviour Support

Behaviour Support Ladder

When an adult arrives to offer support, greet existing adult first and then child. Ask where the child is up to regarding choices to ensure consistency of approach.

First adult to take responsibility of CPOMS, tagging in all involved staff members who can then add actions if appropriate.

Appendix F: Additional Guidance for Staff

Consequences

- Children need to learn that all actions have consequences.
- Consequences can be positive and negative.
- Consequences need to be immediate, short and appropriate for the behaviour and only aimed at the behaviour not the child.
- Children should have a warning before the consequence so that they have a chance to change the behaviour before the consequence (see Appendix X: Scripting Expected Behaviour).

Different types of consequences

Examples of related consequences:

- If a child is being silly and spills a drink, he/she must wipe it up
- If a child is fighting over a toy, the toy is put away
- If a child refuses to get off the iPad he/she loses time later in the day

Examples of 'loss of privilege' consequences

- If a child refuses to follow instructions, he/she may lose dojos.
- If a child has had a fight on the playground, he/she may lose playtime.
- If a child is not completing work, he/she stays in at play to finish

Note of caution:

- Missing playtime is an easy consequence to use. However, it can have a detrimental effect on the child's behaviour. The child who misses playtime the most is probably the child who needs playtime the most.
- Making the whole class miss playtime must be avoided; it's not fair to make all children suffer for the behaviour of one or two children.
- For any behaviours that are not improved by the above consequences, the teacher is encouraged to seek support (see appendix D: Escalated behaviour support)

Early Years Foundation Stage

Children in Reception are just beginning to understand their own emotions and can struggle to identify or label these. They therefore need a greater amount of staff support in managing their emotions and consequently their behaviour. In recognition of this, we support the children in understanding their emotions by discussing how the incident has made them feel and support their management of these emotions by modelling self-soothing behaviours, such as deep breathing or rubbing their arms. This support not only helps them to calm themselves in order to deal with the behaviour but will also support them later when they begin to use Zones of Regulation (to be introduced following staff Self-Regulation training).

We also ensure the EYFS classrooms have an area that is comfortable, calmer and quieter in order for children to remove themselves, reduce anxiety and self-soothe. The staff use consistent approaches and support the children with clear expectations, for example through the use of visuals and sand timers for taking turns. We use praise in order to reinforce positive behaviours, ensuring we catch all children displaying these behaviours.

Strategies to promote positive behaviour

(All advice and ideas are taken from Paul Dix When the Adults Change Everything Changes)

Meet and Greet

Meeting your class every day with a personal greeting could have the greatest impact on their behaviour it will make them feel valued, important and they will know that you want to get to know them.

Make children feel important

Building good relationships with children is essential! Give compliments, ask them how their birthday party was, remember what football team they support, their favourite book, sport... ask them about it. You don't have to be their best friend, just remember the little things - respect works both ways, daily acts of care, generosity, interest in their lives, being bothered will have a huge impact.

"I can give you a special job and make you feel like a king. I can give you £50 and make you feel like you don't matter".

Positive notes

Create a positive message board on the front of your classroom, give each child a positive note or place at their desk. Try giving out positive notes every week for a chosen behaviour (this could be linked to our values of the week). This will motivate them to do their best and want to get a positive note.

Use a recognition board

- Target your recognition board at learning attitudes, not just functional behaviours. Make sure that the behaviours you choose raise the expectations for the children and are not simply something they can do well already.
- Names go on the board to recognise children who are demonstrating the desired learning attitude. Names are never removed from the board. Children who disrupt learning are dealt with privately. Once a name is on the recognition board for good conduct it cannot come off for poor conduct. A different response should be given.
- Children can nominate others to be put on the board. Emphasise peer responsibility. It is not a competition between individuals, rather a whole class helping everyone to get their name on the board. Children are recognised for effort, not achievement. Your recognition board should be for everyone. Your highest achievers might always be high achievers. They only get on the board when they have shown the required effort.
- When everyone has their name on the board a collective 'whoop' is appropriate; large rewards are not necessary. This is critical to the success of the recognition board. To keep the atmosphere supportive the mini celebration at the end of the lesson is enough. You will find that more children choose to support those who are wobbling when jeopardy is minimised. Use the recognition board to persistently and relentlessly catch learners demonstrating the right behaviours.

Refuse to shout

When we change the way we behave then it will change the way the children behave. Save your loudest teacher voice for lavishing praise over the children and refuse to give currency to the poor behaviour. We do not glorify and give attention to the poor behaviour, if we do this it is the quickest way for a child to rise to celebrity status.

The only exception to this is where there is a safeguarding risk where the children need to hear a clear, immediate message in order to keep them safe.

Give first attention to those doing the right thing (First Attention for Best Conduct)

It is very easy to be distracted by the unwanted behaviour. What we need to do is focus our attention and energy on the expected / above and beyond behaviour. If we do this we create a positive atmosphere where we are giving the right things attention.

Take the fame out of behaving badly

If we give first attention to those doing the right thing then we take the fame out of unwanted behaviours.

Teach a new 3 step routine packed with high expectations

Examples: lining up, tidying up, transitions

To establish a calm and orderly classroom / school, routines should be an 'obsession'. Children need to know what is expected of them and how they are going to achieve that. For example: Ending playtime

1. First bell, freeze
2. Second bell, wonderful walking to lines
3. Legendary lines

As a whole school we are going to introduce a three-step routine for lining up (legendary lines), we will all use the same three prompts.

1. Eyes to the front
2. Lips are closed
3. Hands by side

Mantras

Give children the strategies to control their behaviour – e.g. give them mantras such as:

- I can choose to walk away
- I can stop myself
- I am ok
- I am in control of myself
- I can choose to be calm
- I have a bigger goal than this fight

Secondary Behaviour

What is a secondary behaviour?

Example: If a child has been spoken to for throwing something across the classroom and they then choose to 'answer back'. The 'answering back' is the secondary behaviour.

Ways to manage secondary behaviour

- Don't bite back with your words
 - Refuse to chase or engage with the behaviour or engage in power play
 - Remember the first act of poor behaviour that triggered the outburst
 - Use choice if you can but not if it inflames the situation
 - Resist the urge to bring up past misdemeanours
 - Don't follow the child if they walk away, unless you have to because of clear and present safety concerns. The act of following can provoke and peak anger
 - Remember you are the adult, focus on the outcome you want, not the argument
 - Ask questions and don't make accusations
 - Focus on what is happening next. You can uncover what has just happened later
 - Whenever possible move the child to a safe space out of public view and the pressure of an audience
 - Shift into listening mode. This is not time for lengthy speeches, less will almost certainly be more
- Scripts to reroute power play with a child:

- I understand ...(that you are angry/upset)
- I need you to...(come with me so that we can resolve this properly)
- Maybe you are right ...(maybe I need to speak to them too)
- Be that as it may...(I still need you to join in with the group)
- I've often thought the same...(but we need to focus on...)
- I hear you...(it's not easy but I know you can do it brilliantly)

Playground behaviour

We understand that behaviour at playtime can be different to behaviour in the classroom; we have provided these guidelines for dealing with behaviour at playtime.

Expectations of adults in the playground

- We need all adults in the playground to be proactive, looking out for any possible incidents and responding quickly if an incident occurs.
- Always come from a thinking place, asking: 'What's happened?', 'Can you tell me what has happened here', 'One at a time, tell me what has happened...'
- The majority of low-level incidents in the playground can be dealt with by adults on duty using short 'time-ins' (walk with me)

During playtimes

- Staff need to be spread around playground including in blind spots
- Be watchful at all times
- Play games, engage with children when you think this is appropriate
- Scripts to use following playground incidents:
 - 'What do you think the poor choices were that caught my attention?'
 - 'One at a time, tell me what has happened...I will listen to each of you in turn but you must also listen and not interrupt each other'
 - 'Let's sit down and find out what happened.'
 - 'You need to understand that every choice has a consequence. You have chosen to break the school rule this means you will have a consequence of

Time-in

- Adults dealing with an incident will insist a child spends some time with an adult; this time should only be short, a minute/two/three. The adult should ensure the child then returns to being able to play.
- A rule reminder can come at the start or the end of the time-in.

Risk Statement

Currently holds are not needed to reduce risk for your child, we will use the Team Teach guides to remove them from an escalating /dangerous situation where they are putting themselves or others in danger. If behaviour escalates and we need to use holds then it is important to understand that whilst the accredited holds of Team Teach are intended to reduce risk, there is always risk within the situation where physical intervention is required. I understand that staff will always seek to avoid injury to the child, but it is possible that marks, bruising or scratching may occur accidentally. This is not a failure of professional technique, but an infrequent side effect of ensuring that the child remains safe. Any such injury will be reported to the SENCO, Head Teacher and Parents/carers. First aid will be implemented by a trained member of staff and recorded in the reporting documents of use of physical intervention. Further guidance may be also sought, as necessary, in the event of an injury or physical distress arising because of a physical intervention.
